

Teaching Online is a Good Thing

Kent A. Kersey, Corban University

Blog Series: Online Teaching, Online Learning

April 20, 2020

Tags: online course design | teaching online | learning online

The debate about whether or not to engage in online education is over. However, the journey to doing online education well is just beginning. This video points out the reasons we should be embracing online education. It also gives a few pointers about one of the most popular forms of professor presentation, the screencast.

Watch the screencast at this link.

<https://www.wabashcenter.wabash.edu/2020/04/teaching-online-is-a-good-thing/>